Real performance. Real value.

Background WOLF Home Products, based in York, Pa., is a division of The Wolf Organization and sister company to WOLF, the largest supplier of kitchen and bath cabinetry in the U.S., and a major supplier of other building products, including decking, railing and trim. WOLF Home Products was created to manage the existing line of WOLF-branded products and to develop new high-quality, U.S.-made products offered at value price points.

Value By working with manufacturing partners in the U.S., WOLF Home Products maintains greater quality control and more reliable inventory availability than off-shore manufacturers. WOLF Home Products offer homeowners significant advantages over competing building products: high performance, a wide range of colors and styles, and superior service and support – all without the premium price tag. Homeowners who buy WOLF Home Products also help create American jobs.

Availability WOLF Home Products are currently distributed by WOLF throughout its service area of 18 East Coast states. During 2012, WOLF Home Products will become available in other select markets throughout the U.S. WOLF Home Products are sold only through independent building materials dealers, not big-box stores. Independent dealers provide superior service and consistent value to builders, remodelers and homeowners.

History Founded in 1843 by Adam Wolf as a lumber store on the banks of the Susquehanna River in rural Pennsylvania, The Wolf Organization has built a 168-year tradition of success in bringing building products to market. Today, WOLF and WOLF Home Products are under the leadership of CEO Tom Wolf, a member of the sixth generation of the Wolf family. In addition to developing new offerings through WOLF Home Products, WOLF offers other brands to 4,200 independent building materials dealers along the East Coast.

Leadership Team The activities of WOLF Home Products are directed by President Craig Danielson, a 20-year member of the WOLF team. Mike Sessinger is Executive Vice President of Sales. Barry Graboski and Dominick Pileggi are Vice President of Product Development for Kitchen & Bath Products and Building Products, respectively.
